Welcome to the second half of Spring Term - a great start with some better weather. There has been a buzz around school this week with lots of excitement at starting new units of learning. March hosts Science week and we will be spending the next few weeks focusing on some brilliant science inventors, and being scientist ourselves. From silly putty to bouncing springs, environmentally friend food packaging to 3D printing; children will see the value and ever-growing need for scientist in our society. We're excited for the scientific thinking and activities which will happen across the school.

Our Rainforest Rangers in year 4 headed off to the Eden Project this week, experiencing the sights, sounds and smells of a rainforest. They yet again impressed all the adults that supported them with their manners and learning behaviours while they were there – well done Hawks and Falcons!

A huge thank you to those of you who were able to support our Book Fair. Every book that was bought has earned the school FREE books for our library. It is really important to keep our library stocked with high quality texts so this will really help.

Today marks the start of the SPONSORED READ run by our PTFA. All children will have brought home a paper sponsorship form (children can ask their teachers for more copies, or pop to the office). Please support your child to gain sponsorship for reading over the next few days as the world celebrates WORLD BOOK DAY. Every penny of monies raised will support us in providing your children with high quality texts.

Our celebrations for World Book Day (next Thursday) will start with children coming to school dressed as a book character or an author. You will see the PTFA's Facebook page has a link to a local costume swap – a great way to reuse without buying new.

Enjoy a sunny weekend and don't forget to look up in the evenings. The winter sky at night is already very special, but there are also many planets visible over the weekend – well worth researching with your children.

Have a lovely weekend.

School Development News

During Monday's INSET day some staff attended Number Stacks training, a math intervention support to help children grasp maths skills well. The programme quickly identifies gaps in children's knowledge and provides the support for adults to teach this objective well and support our learners to become fluent mathematicians

Calendar Of Events

Girls Football Day

On Friday 7th March, as we did last year, girls across the school will be taking part in the FA initiative 'Let Girls Play' which is a day promoting women's football.

Our very own football expert Mr Philips will run a session with each year group from Nursery to Year 6 so they will need to come in wearing their PE kit.

If they would like to pack a football shirt in their bag to wear just for the session then that will be OK too. This is not essential though. If there are any questions please get in touch with me.

Thanks for your continued support!
Mr Downing

All girls to wear their PE kit to school (pack a football shirt if you have one)
